CASE STUDY

AVIATION INDUSTRY

LATUS

Because Good Health, is Good Business

How Viking Airport Equipment prioritised the health and well-being of its employees by partnering with Latus Group.

Viking Airport Equipment, a leading company in the aviation industry, recently prioritised the health and well-being of its employees by partnering with Latus Group. The goal was to ensure the workforce's optimal health by conducting critical diagnostic tests in a private and comfortable setting.

During a single visit, Latus Group conducted a total of 23 health assessments, including 12 combined audiometry and spirometry tests to evaluate employees' hearing and lung function, and an additional 11 audiometry tests were also performed to further assess hearing health. All tests were carried out in a private room onsite, allowing for both confidentiality and convenience. This collaboration enabled Viking Airport Equipment to ensure compliance with workplace health regulations and maintain a healthy working environment, demonstrating their commitment to employee well-being and proactive health management.

BENEFITS

- Early detection of health issues
- Ensures legal compliance
- Boosts employee morale and productivity
- Reduces workplace risks

Everyone that I spoke to and also met within the Latus Group were all very friendly, helpful and professional - excellent experience.
