

HEALTH SURVEILLANCE

CASE STUDY

AUTOMOTIVE INDUSTRY

LATUS

Because Good Health, is Good Business

Multi Health Surveillance for Trailer Auto Group

To safeguard the health and well-being of its employees, Trailer Auto Group partnered with Latus Group UK to conduct comprehensive health surveillance for 150 staff members. This included audiometry, spirometry, HAVS Testing and skin surveillance.

The goal was to ensure early detection and prevention of work-related illnesses while ensuring compliance with health and safety regulations.

Latus Group UK delivered a customised health surveillance program to meet the unique needs of Trailer Auto Group's workforce, focusing on the specific risks posed by the automotive manufacturing and repair environment.

BENEFITS

- Early Identification of Health Risks
- Improved Compliance and Risk Management
- Enhanced Workplace Safety Culture
- Reduction of Long-Term Health Risks
- Boosted Employee Morale and Productivity

“Everything has been very smooth with minimal disruption to work. The results were delivered back to us very quickly with very clear results and recommendations”

Robert Pritchard, Trailer Auto Group

LATUS

Because Good Health is Good Business